M. W. LYON'S

Collegiate Institute,

No. 5 EAST TWENTY-SECOND STREET,

North-east corner of Broadway.

TWENTY YEARS has the present Principal been in the School. Five hundred and eighty different pupils have been under him. Nearly one out of twelve has gone to College or Scientific School; many more into business.

ROOMS.—They have been especially fitted up at large expense for the needs of the School, and cannot be easily matched. They are all upon the same floor and connected, are light, and high-ceiled. Each room is provided with one or more ventilators. The entrance is quiet and exclusive, on Twenty-second Street. All interested are invited to call.

ORGANIZATION.—The pupils make one school family in the opening devotions, and unite in singing and Scripture reading. The younger then retire to Mrs. Lyon's room, while the Principal, in the main room, spends the entire day in the instruction of the others. None are away from him, except while reciting to assistants in adjoining class-rooms. His is the controlling mind of the School.

STUDIES.—These embrace all needful for Business, College, or the Scientific School. A thorough knowledge of the common English branches is the foundation. The Principal gives special attention to College preparation, and designs that no candidate shall go from this School without ample fitness. During the last nine years thirty-seven have entered College—fifteen Columbia, ten Yale, seven Princeton, two Harvard, two Williams, and one Troy Polytechnic. Other classes follow yearly.

INSTRUCTORS.—Only the best assistants, such as have experience and tact, including an accomplished French Professor, are employed.

PUPILS.—All ages are received; the youngest are with Mrs. Lyon. We desire pure, true, cheerful, obedient, diligent pupils, and none other. The opposite of these we do not expect to retain. The law that reigns between pupils and teachers, as well as among fellow-pupils, is the law of love—love for each other and their work.
